

A forward contract in which the cash price is based on the basis relating to a specified futures contract.